

learn what I loved to learn and what I loved to do and the school would still accept it as learning. I wouldn't have to stare at confusing books, or sit in a classroom learning the same information as everyone else. I could learn in the field, with hands on tools and information. Family Tree Private School became my school because they understood that learning could be more than sitting at a desk!

That school changed my whole highschool experience and outlook. I began to learn information beneficial to my life and future. I absolutely enjoyed my highschool experience because when I was in highschool I was able to volunteer at a horse rescue as one of my classes. I was also able to have a job helping children with homework and gaining experience in the field. Now, I have a job working with horses and children. I continue to learn more and more and my experience grows because of it. Family Tree Private School made it all possible, rescued my view of education, and placed me in a situation after highschool that let me work doing what I love immediately. Instead of after college. I am immensely grateful for Family Tree Private School, it built my confidence, brought me out of my shell, let me be who I am, and never forced me to conform. I would not be where I am today if it wasn't for them!
